WANTED GORE

Stanley's Defiance to the Whites.

Report by Capt. Stouch on the Cheyenne Trouble.

The Sheriff Nearly Provoked a General Outburst.

Other Bucks Became Restless When the Murderer of Settler Hoover Announced That He Would Fight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The Indian Office has received from Capt. Stouch a detailed report of the trouble there arising from the murder of Settler John Hoover by David Stanley, a Cheyenne brave.

After much diplomacy on the part of the agent, Stanley and his two accomplices, Sam Crow and Yellow Hair, are now lodged in jail at Miles City and will be tried by the civil courts. Capt. Stouch's description of the trouble is interesting, in that it shows the constant conflict between the Federal officers and the State authorities in arrests of Indians. In this case, the presence of the Sheriff and a large posse came near causing a conflict with the Indians.

The report states that soon after Hoover's body was found, Capt. Stouch sent for White Bull and some of the head men, being satisfied that it was his band which had committed the murder.

The old chief came in response to the summons and expressed his regret at the occurrence. Capt. Stouch told him to tell the head men that the band would be held responsible for the murder unless they discovered the real culprits and brought him to the post.

This conference took place on the 2nd of May. On that same day Sheriff Gibb of Custer county and a band of twenty-five armed men rode up to the agency and informed Capt. Stouch that they wanted the murderers. The agent replied that he was doing everything possible to discover and arrest the guilty Indians, and if not interfered with, would succeed in his work.

The Sheriff left four deputies and departed. That evening Capt. Read with two troops of cavalry arrived.

Soon after this White Bull came into the agency and told Capt. Stouch that Stanley had come to the agency, but would not surrender, having sent word at 2 o'clock that he would fight.

This agent replied that he would not allow, but the chief must compel Stanley to give himself up. A courier was sent to recall the cavalry and the Indians became very restless, the squaws and children took to the hills, while the bucks rode in and stationed themselves on the hilltops near the post. They were all heavily armed and had their bows and arrows. The agent they had come to see, Stanley, would fight, Capt. Stouch says.

"Capt. Read returned to the agency with his command at 3:30 p.m., and at this time Stanley was on a high hill in the rear of the agency, a great distance off. He had his horse and squaws with him, was in his war dress and paint, and was heavily armed. He was all ready to fight. It was the desire of Capt. Read to charge and capture the Indians.

Finally he consented to accompany the agent back to the post, still refusing to give up his arms. He was there persuaded to give up his rifle and was locked up. In the mean time Sheriff Gibb returned and presented Capt. Stouch with a warrant for his arrest, violating the State laws in interfering with the Sheriff in his attempt to arrest the Indians.

The Sheriff demanded the person of Stanley, but the agent refused to deliver him up, feeling that it would defeat the ends of justice, as he hoped to get a trial.

He then turned to the posse, informing them which Indians he intended to apprehend, giving the names of his accomplices, and that he did not want to fight the soldiers, but did want to fight the citizens, meaning the deputy sheriffs who were here. I told him to go back and tell Stanley I would not let him fight, and he agreed to come in and surrender. Deputy Sheriff Smith told me he would attempt to capture him if I would guarantee him safety from the other Indians. I told him I could not do so guarantee, and more over there would be no fight, and that he would not be captured without any bloodshed.

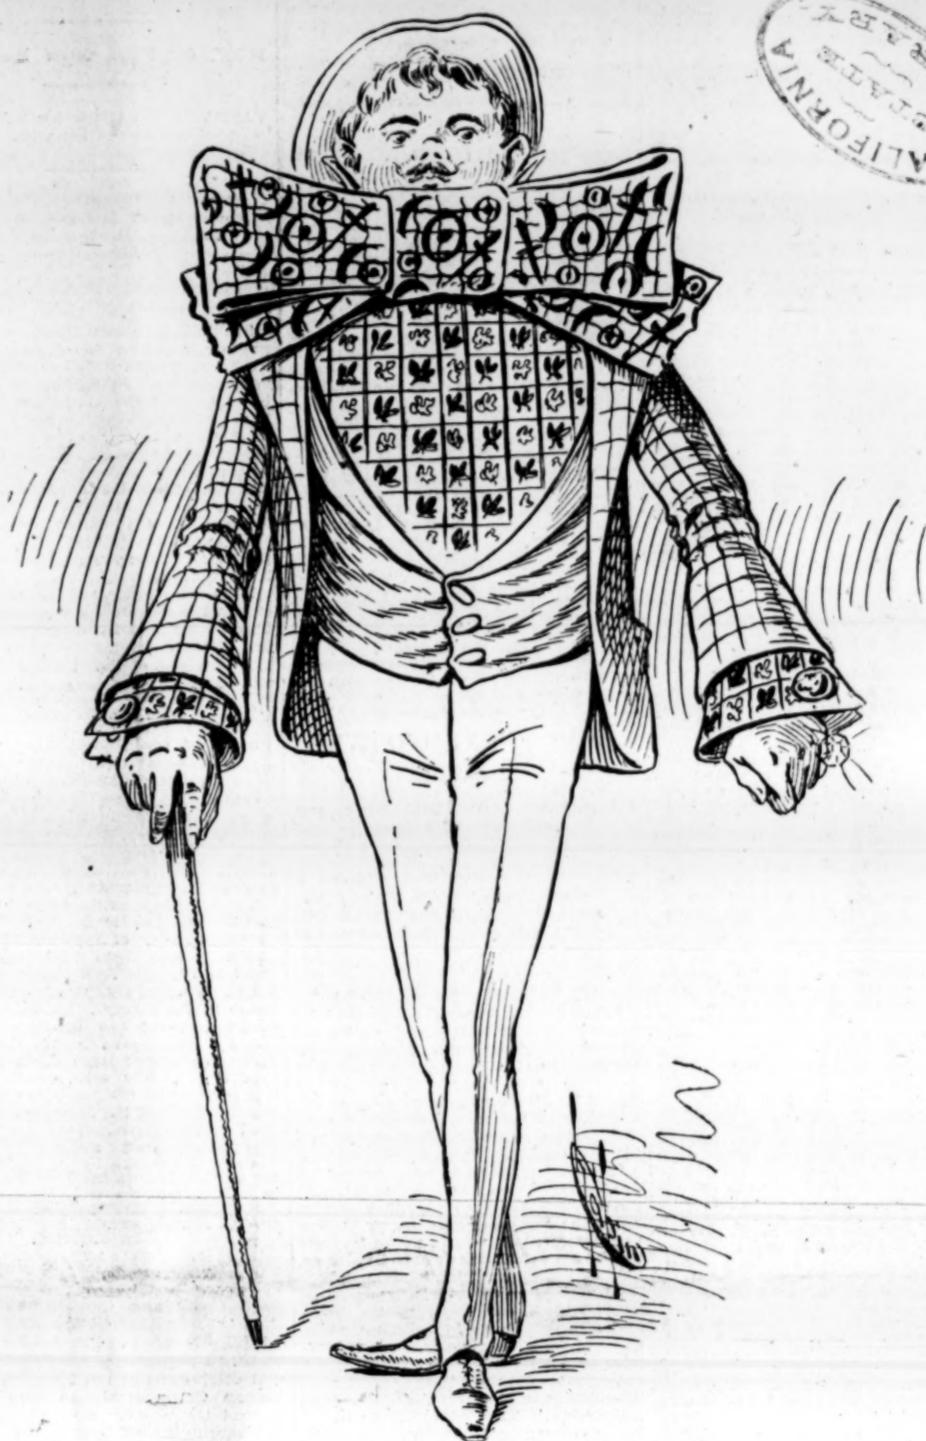

"Stanley followed in the steps of the head chief and Crazy Mule, of whose heroic death stories are told around the fires, making every young man anxious to follow in their wake. It was in 1881 that these two young men, a white boy, and his body in the hills, where it was found after a search of several days. The murderers were discovered through their boasting of their prowess, but it was refused; though they were willing to be killed and would die fighting. Their proposal was accepted, and the five troops of cavalry stationed here were ordered to prepare to the affray.

In the appointed time, the troops took their station in the rear of the agency buildings, and each young man took his position on a hill on either side of the troops; the young men charged down the hills on their horses, shouting, singing the death songs and firing at the soldiers. They were finally killed, only shooting the horses of the soldiers. Stones mark the footsteps of the horses on the hillsides, and the bodies of the "braves" are buried in graves prepared for them beforehand. Thus these two young men became heroes, and to prevent a repetition of these incidents, I forbade any fighting.

"I did not think it wise and prudent to make the attempt with but two troops of cavalry, and when I learned the Indians were not disposed to release the capture of Stanley, still there was no telling what they would do when one of their people was being fired upon. Had they made a resistance there is no telling where it would have ended. They muster almost five hundred warriors, and knowing of their disposition to resist in 1881, when much weaker than now, I thought two troops of cavalry would not stand much chance of success.

"About this time, from remarks made to me by the Indians and by their actions, I became convinced that they were afraid of the deputy sheriffs, because they did not understand why they were here, they were not representative of the law and cowboys. This had rendered them very close-mouthed, and

WHALEBONE CORNERER.

FERNANDIN MAY IS LOCATED IN YUCATAN.

He Obtained Large Sums of Money Fraudulently from German Banks—Was Arrested in New York but Released on a Technicality—He Skipped.

[BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.]

NY, June 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Ferdinand May, who attempted to corner whalebone market of the world, and the scheme having failed, who obtained large sums of money from German banks, has been located in Yucatan.

May was arrested in New York, February 19, and lodged in Ludlow-street jail in default of $100,000 bail. He was charged with having defrauded the Strasburg Bank out of over $26,000. Other banks in Germany and firms in the whalebone trade in this country had claims against May, and it was estimated that the concern with which he had dealings was a loser in the sum of $75,000. Before steps could be taken, May was released from custody on a technicality and disappeared.

Detractors hired by German banks have located him in Yucatan, from which place he cannot be extradited to Germany or the United States.

May was nearly five years in developing his scheme to corner whalebone. He was a member of Wulf, Aurbach & Co. of Strasburg, importers and exporters of whalebone. A syndicate was formed in Berlin and Strasburg of men in good standing, who were captured by May's agents in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

In some of his shipments, imitation whalebone was represented as genuine, which is worth twenty times as much. Some of the American houses were used by May to aid him in building the market. The corner in the market did not result as May expected, and he was unable to meet his obligations. He obtained several hundred thousand dollars on bills of exchange drawn on New York firms, to whom his firms had shipped consignments of whalebone. These bills were sent back to Germany. May's arrest followed.

FRIENDLY BUT FATAL.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Albert Benson and Thomas Olsen got into a friendly wrangle which Brooklyn lawmen lifted Olsen backward. He did not rise, Longchamps Plain. The roadway had been clear for some time. The Presidential escort was led by two dragons, holding their pistols forward in the most threatening way.

"They were closely questioned by M. Alphonse, the examining magistrate, but as they gave satisfactory accounts of themselves and their movements, they were released about midnight."

NEW YORK, June 14.—A dispatch to the world from Paris says:

"The outrage was carefully planned. A large crowd gathered below the Cascade de Bois de Boulogne, near the famous restaurant celebrated for its exclusive patronage and high prices, is a thick clump of lilac bushes, where the assassin lay in ambush. There he effected his secret himself from observation."

"The Presidential carriage and escort were traveling at a smart gallop. It was after 3 o'clock and M. Faure was a little late. Suddenly a loud report was heard. The carriage stopped. M. Faure and his wife, with the usual presence of mind, sat back in their carriage, exhibiting praiseworthy calmness. The impulsive French crowd, ever quick to recognize a grace, cheered them to a echo. A man, said to be the one who was supposed to be the prime mover, was arrested promptly. He gave his name as Gallet, and made only the briefest replies to questions put to him by the police. Gallet said he had been at the police station at Levellers-Derret. The man was searched, thorough search of his lodgings. He is believed to be insane, for as the carriage passed along he shouted so loudly as to attract general attention from the crowd. Police also arrested several persons, arrest, in this case, youth, but it is thought probable that the actual culprit escaped in the thickets."

The police were chagrined, for they had made elaborate preparations to protect the President. M. Lepine, the chief of Police, who was in the Presidential box at Long Champs, showed to the distinguished visitors, who showered felicitations upon M. Faure, a piece of the exploded bomb and tried to treat the incident as lightly as possible, his appearance plainly showed his anxiety.

"On being interviewed, he acknowledged that the explosion must have been violent, for it had damaged the surrounding trees and torn up a considerable quantity of earth. The presumption is that the important person who caused the explosion would be able to rush in and use his pistol or knife, because it is certain that he could not have done any damage at the distance he stood from the carriage."

"M. Lassal, the President's private secretary, said that we were driving rapidly through the Bois de Boulogne and were nearing the cascade, suddenly a loud explosion caused the horses of the Presidential carriage to rear and fall back almost on their haunches. A woman in the crowd, pointing toward a thicket, shouted: 'Ammunition! Vive le Peuple!' The police agent ran into the bushes, followed by a crowd. A panic among the spectators followed, but it was counteracted by the President's coolness. He kept his seat and simply acknowledged the salutations of the dense throng of spectators which lined both sides of the roadway."

BLIND TIGER'S WORK.

A CRAZY DRUNK SLAYS FIVE MISSISSIPPI NEGROES.

Mr. Sibley (Colored) Takes His Gun on the Warpath—Three Women and Two Children Fall Before His Murderous Fire-Six Other People Escape Bullets.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

MERIDIAN (Miss.) June 13.—News reached here tonight of the murder of five negroes in the extreme northwestern portion of Kemper county. A negro man named Sibley, while crazy drunk on Blind Tiger whisky, secured a gun and started out to kill every person he met. The first he came across happened to be five negroes, three women and two children. He shot them down and left them dead where they fell. He also shot at six other negroes, who narrowly escaped. As soon as the bloody work of Sibley was discovered, the most intense excitement prevailed, and a mob was organized to lynch the murderer. Sibley took to the woods, carrying his shotgun with him. And at last accounts the mob had surrounded him and a bloody fight was imminent.

Word comes from De Kalb that the Sheriff of Kemper county has gone to the scene with a large posse.

CYCLONE AT ELKINS.

Considerable Destruction wrought at the West Virginia City.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

WHEELING (W. Va.) June 13.—A severe cyclone struck the town of Elkins today, and did considerable damage. Trees were uprooted, roofs were blown off, several houses lifted from their foundations and the walls of new buildings under construction were wrecked. The house occupied by Henry Hay was blown from its foundations and his wife and child were seriously injured.

The damage was principally in the residence portion of the city. Trees and outbuildings on Senator Elkins' place were severely damaged. The men's garage under construction was completely wrecked.

THE TRACK BLOCKED.

Crowded Train on the Sea Beach Road Shaken Up.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

NEW YORK, June 13.—A train of eleven cars on the Sea Beach Railroad crowded with passengers from Coney Island, crashed into an obstruction on the track tonight at Fifth avenue and Sixty-fifth street, near the Fifth avenue tunnel. The train was running slowly at the time and fortunately no serious damage was done.

It was found that several heavy steel rails had been placed across the tracks and strongly braced with several other rails, and it appeared to the detectives, who were at once put on the case, and to the train-people to be a deliberate attempt to wreck the train.

PANICKY POLES.

Fall of a Hanging-lamp Starts a Cry of Fire.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

BUFFALO, June 13.—A panic occurred in a Polish school house on Broadway tonight. A church entertainment was being held and 1500 people, principally women and children, were present. A hanging-lamp fell and a cry of fire was raised. Men, women and children rushed crowded and stampeding over the floor in their efforts to reach the exit. No one was fatally injured, but a large number of women and children were bruised. The fire was soon extinguished.

READING IRON WORKS TO CLOSE.

THE PRESIDENT SPENDS SUNDAY AT CHATTANOOGA.

Accompanied by ex-Postmaster-General Key and Hon. Henry Clay Evans He Goes to Church.

DRIVE TO ORCHARD KNOB.

HOLDS A SHORT RECEPTION AT THE READ HOUSE.

Secretary Sherman Passes the Day with Relatives—Gen. Grosvenor and a party Visit Sandgrass Hill and Lookout Mountain.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) June 13.—After a week of travel, including seeing, speech-making and social duties, somewhat uneventful though pleasant in personnel, President McKinley, Mrs. McKinley and the more immediate official staff had a Sabbath of restfulness. The heat, while intense, was more or less tempered by a northwestern breeze, which, however, was not much in evidence in the railroad station into which the train pulled from Nashville, just as day was breaking.

The run was made very slowly, purposefully in order that the President and his wife would not be disturbed. Immediately upon their arrival here they breakfasted in their car, and immediately after, much to the regret of many prominent citizens, who wished to meet the Chief Executive in the morning, drove to the residence of Hon. T. C. Evans, United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue. It is not the desire of the hospital visitors of Chattanooga, however, in any way to controvert the President's wishes.

At 10:30 o'clock the President, accompanied by ex-Postmaster-General Key and Mr. Evans, went to the First Methodist Church. Mrs. McKinley did not accompany him. The pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. W. E. White, preached from Genesis, xxii, 14, "In the mount of the Lord it shall be seen."

The general subject of the sermon was "Transfigured Humanity," and no reference whatever was made to the distinguished guests in the services except that the blessing of Providence was asked for the President and his administration in his opening prayer. The music was by an octet of male voices, assisted by a choir of young people. The church was filled to overflowing, and many were unable to obtain admission.

At the close of the services the President returned to Mr. Evans' home, where he quietly rested until about 5 o'clock when Mr. McKinley, Mrs. Evans, the President and Commissioner drove to Orchard Knob, one of the crucial points in the battle of Missionary Ridge. They returned in time for dinner, after which the President gave a speech to the members of the Club at the Read House, which was charged by Mr. McKinley, Mrs. McKinley and Mr. Porter, secretary to the President, and many of the Presidential guests, together with the large representation of the newspapermen left at 9:45 o'clock.

Secretaries Alger and Wilson attended. The President, Chas. C. Dr. W. Q. Trimble pastor, Mr. Porter, secretary to the President, and many of the Presidential guests, together with the large representation of the newspapermen left at 9:45 o'clock.

That Chattanooga did not give any demonstrations of hospitality and more or less indifference to the President was due solely to the desire of its people to fit in entirely with the wishes of the Chief Magistrate, and the fact that it was the Sabbath.

Secretary of State Sherman did not attend during services, but remained with his daughter at the residence of William Lassell, whose wife is a relative of the Sherman family. Mr. Sherman's daughter, Mrs. McCullum, was affected by the heat in Nashville last Friday and today was quite indisposed.

Secretaries Alger and Wilson attended. The President, Chas. C. Dr. W. Q. Trimble pastor, Mr. Porter, secretary to the President, and many of the Presidential guests, together with the large representation of the newspapermen left at 9:45 o'clock.

That Chattanooga did not give any demonstrations of hospitality and more or less indifference to the President was due solely to the desire of its people to fit in entirely with the wishes of the Chief Magistrate, and the fact that it was the Sabbath.

Thus it will be seen that I was charged, judged and practically convicted by the State Department solely on the ex parte statements of the French government, without being accorded an opportunity to rebut the accusations; and when I wrote to the department, complaining of the injustice which had been done me by a refusal to put in evidence the proofs and authorities which I had voluntarily furnished, and which were absolutely conclusive of correctness of every statement made, I was informed, with brutal frankness, that the department considered the incident as closed."

"Was there any special object or reason for making such a report?"

"Yes," he replied, "there were two controlling circumstances which induced me to take up the subject and discuss it in an official report. First, I knew from personal observation, and through the writings of French authorities, that artificial wines and brandies, alike disastrous to the health and lives of the laboring classes in France, were being fabricated in enormous quantities, and that much of the so-called wine was exported to the United States. As a proof of its deleterious properties, it had been shown that while pure, natural wine has few or no fermentative microbes, artificial wine contains 50,000 colonies per cubic centimeter of bacteria of the most deadly character.

"In the second place, I was aware of the fact that American cattle had been rigidly excluded, by degrees of the French government, from France on mere pretext, and I could see no reason why our government should not retaliate by excluding French wines, when their dangerous nature was made known through official report to the State Department.

"This is probably the first time in the history of diplomacy that an official report of a representative of one government has been submitted to the representative of another government for revision and criticism."

A HURRIED VISIT.

William Boy Makes a Flying Trip to the Capital.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

WASHINGTON, June 13.—W. J. Bryan paid a hurried visit to Washington today, arriving here from New York this morning and leaving for Norfolk this evening. There were many callers at the hotel where Bryan stopped. He attended services at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, and later in the day dined with Senator Jones, the chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

Then, at our suggestion, the foreign consul general entreated him with greater powers to enforce immigration restriction.

"First—Does your organization favor amending the laws of the United States to restrict immigration more? It is not restricted."

"Second—Does your organization favor a provision in the law guarding against criminal and pauper elements entering the country?"

"Third—Should foreign consular departments be entrusted with greater power to enforce immigration laws?"

"Fourth—Should the violation of the alien contract labor law by employers be prohibited?"

"Fifth—Should the steamship companies be held responsible for seven years for the character of their passengers?"

"Sixth—Should stricter civil and educational test be enforced as to qualification for naturalization?"

"Seventh—Should every immigrant be compelled to declare his intention to become a citizen of the United States?"

"What other provision does your organization favor and suggest, if any, to further the restriction of immigration?"

"Organizations which expect to be represented at the Nashville convention of the American Federation of Labor are urged to instruct their delegates, so that the convention may be the judge of the organization of organized labor on the subject, and unions which will not be represented are directed to discuss and vote upon the question and to return the vote to headquarters not later than October 30, 1897."

BRITISH MARKETS.

Good Demand for Gold-Jubilee Talk Dulling Business.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

London, June 13.—(By Atlantic Cable.)

The money market remains practically unchanged. Discounts are stationary.

The gold demand from the Jubilee festivities takes away animation from the market. The probability is that for the next fortnight very little will be done, but after the diamond jubilee day considerable activity is expected, with a general advance of prices.

American railway securities of all sorts have received the most attention during the week, the fall having been most pronounced. There are, however, prospects of a rise, in view of the promising advices as to the crops and the consequent increase in traffic.

There have been many deals in options, and most of the bond issues show a buoyant tendency.

Northern Pacific preferred during the latter part of the week showed a favorable reaction, and rose ½. New York Central, and Chesapeake and Ohio ¼; Atchison, preferred, ½; Wabash preferred, ½; Erie, ½; Western, ½; Pennsylvania and Reading, ¾.

A prominent feature during the week was the demand for Grand Trunk and the Canadian railway securities in general, with the exception of the Canadian Pacific, which fell ½.

THOMAS L. CHAPIN,
Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

NOTE.—THE TIMES is a seven day paper. The above aggregate, viz., 131,250 copies issued by us during the seven days of the past week would, if apportioned to each day of the week, give a daily average of 25,250 copies. The event papers give a daily average of 25,000 copies for each working day of 21,850 copies.

THE TIMES is the only Los Angeles paper which has regularly published sworn statements of its circulation, both gross and net, weekly, monthly and yearly, during the past several years. WHY

IS IT THAT WHEN YOU WANT A good steak, you will take the pains to search out a good restaurant in order to get it, and get it, too?

NOT

Because it is vital to you, but you want it, and that's all there is about it. Do you want to set back your manhood and your vitality?

TRY

To think how much it means to you. Just for a moment. You would have no more weak nerves, none of those night sweats, no shaking limbs.

TO

Find the weakness all stopped, the strength of young, splendid manhood returned, that feeling of confidence restored, would indeed be grand, eh?

GET

Down to business today, then, and either call at, or write to, the address given below, and ask for circulars and testimonials of cures.

WELL

Ask for information as to what the great "Hudyan" has done for thousands who were worse than you are by far. It will cure you, too, sure!

The physicians of the Institute alone can give you "Hudyan," and its power is so wonderful that every case of failing strength flies before it instantly. The "30-day blood cure" is just as effective for those whose blood is tainted. Circulars free and advice, too.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the treatment practiced by Dr. Schiffman in extracting teeth. I had two very bad teeth extracted today and did not feel the least pain, but on the contrary, the sensation was a very pleasant one.

G. V. SIMMONS,
11 E. First St.

The Doctor extracted one tooth for me painlessly. I recommend him.

J. W. LOEX,

I must express my gratitude to Dr. Schiffman for extracting three teeth for me at one sitting without the slightest pain. It is to me marvelous that an application so harmless has been found that relieves one from all pain under such an ordeal as pulling teeth.

MRS. H. A. BROWN,
186 W. Pico St.

Had 8 teeth pulled at one sitting; suffered no pain; I recommend this method to all.

It is hardly time for trout fishing, except in the streams of Santa Cruz, San Mateo and Sonoma, which go dry much earlier than those to the northward and eastward of them. The best trout fishing in June is to be had by the Donahue road to Ukiah City, and thence by state highway to Redwood City, El Dorado, Mad River in Humboldt County. The Cimarron in Russian River is at its best now. The snow-fed streams such as the Kern, Feather, Tuolumne and Mariposa are too high as yet, and will not be at their stage of best fishing till about the middle of August.

The streams of the Pacific Coast may be placed in the following order: First, the McKenzie in Oregon, over and above all streams anyway easy of access; next the Trask, Dougherty, and Bear, rivers in Tillamook County, Or.; then the Willamette, Coquille and Chehalis in Washington; then the Siuslaw, which flows into Pend d'Oreille Lake, and then the Umatilla and John Day rivers in Oregon.

The most attractive part of the State are equally to the Mackenzie, but are so inaccessible that none but men of long purse can reach them.

If a man has only two weeks to spare, let him take the Pacific Coast train to Portland and then the Oregon.

He can have good fishing on Coos River, North Slough and the Coquille, winding up with a couple of days on the North Fork of the Umpqua.

If a man would take time to go far up the latter stream as Mr. Scott, he would get a good many fish, and all the deer he wanted. But the road is a hard one, and there are a few rattlesnakes to be met with on the trip.

These all involve tedious journeys, and all camps are not alike. My own camp is at Smith's Lake, about twelve miles from the streams of Foca, and while the fish were not as plenty as in the streams that debouch into Shallow Bay, they were the largest and gamest I ever saw except on the Mackenzie. For the part of the coast there is such a thing as a trout on the coast, unless the Dolly Varden fish of the northern streams is one. The so-called rainbow trout is, in my belief, nothing but a steelhead salmon; and the "red fish" of the Walla Walla and the "red fish" of the Columbia and the "silver-side" salmon of Puget Sound.

The late Capt. Charles Bendire, U.S.A., and myself, put in one solid week at Wallows Lake in 1879, and looked that things up to our mutual satisfaction.

But we saw fishing something unusual, even if we do not have the weakfish and tautog of the eastern fishing banks. We have our three native fishes, the yellowtail, which is the tail of the fish of Long Island Sound, while the yellowtail is alone on its own hook. Forty-four years ago I was deckhand on one of the San Francisco pilot boats, and while cruising off the Año Nuevo one of the four coast guard big yachts. One of the pilots, who was afterward drowned in a sou'wester on the bar, called down the companionway for his partner to come up, saying: "Jim's caught one of them white salmon."

White salmon is very excusable, for the yellowtail is very like the salmon about the head and shoulders, but there ends all resemblance, for the tail is the tail of the mackerel family as plainly as a nose on your face. And what a game fish the yellowtail is, to be sure. Then the fish of the Gulf of California, South Carolina and Florida that they call the "channel bass," which reminds me very much of the yellowtail, with its gameness.

They have a fish at the Santa Barbara Channel Islands that they call a sheephead and I have seen them in a few places at Santa Monica and Redondo. But at Anacana Island in '96 there was a party of threshing-machine hands from San Pedro, seven of them, and they caught an average of 800 fish a day, a day and a half, sixty per cent of these sheepheads.

Next to the yellowtail, which is the tail of the fish of the Colorado.

Miss Letty, afterward famous as the dam of Weatherby, won it in 1837;

Industry, dam of Chevalier d'Industrie and third dam of the Australian wonder, Neckers, carried it off in 1838; and in 1840 came Lord George Bentinck's mackerel machine, which won the Two Thousand and One Thousand Guineas at Newmarket and an extra £1000 to the owner.

While the complete specifications for the new track have not yet been made public, the more important ones are known. The foundations are to be of stone, on which will be set up the supports, timber which will be of heavy pine, firmly braced with iron stays and bolts. For the surface 2x2 yellow selected stock will be used. These boards will be laid lengthwise and bent on the turns, giving what experts claim to be a surface offering the least possible resistance. The entire construction, surface as well as the supporting walls, will be thoroughly coated with waterproof paint. With a view to prevent the annoying glare often complained of by racing men, the surface of the track will be painted an olive green color, expert medical testimony having demonstrated that that shade is most restful to the eyes, whereas the yellow color of the natural pine is extremely trying to the optics of the flyers.

With an extreme width of forty feet along the entire homestretch, the new track will taper down to a width of twenty-six feet at the backstretch. The sweep from the straight into the turns will receive special attention, and the lines will be so accurately adjusted that, as Mr. Ashinger promises, "If you could get a 'quad' or 'sex' team to go in 1:30 sec. your track would hold them safe."

The extreme banking of the track on August 6 and 7 that it was decided to lay a wooden track, and at 5:30 p.m.

With an extreme width of forty feet along the entire homestretch, the new track will taper down to a width of twenty-six feet at the backstretch. The sweep from the straight into the turns will receive special attention, and the lines will be so accurately adjusted that, as Mr. Ashinger promises, "If you could get a 'quad' or 'sex' team to go in 1:30 sec. your track would hold them safe."

The extreme banking of the track on August 6 and 7 that it was decided to lay a wooden track, and at 5:30 p.m.

While the complete specifications for the new track have not yet been made public, the more important ones are known. The foundations are to be of stone, on which will be set up the supports, timber which will be of heavy pine, firmly braced with iron stays and bolts. For the surface 2x2 yellow selected stock will be used. These boards will be laid lengthwise and bent on the turns, giving what experts claim to be a surface offering the least possible resistance. The entire construction, surface as well as the supporting walls, will be thoroughly coated with waterproof paint. With a view to prevent the annoying glare often complained of by racing men, the surface of the track will be painted an olive green color, expert medical testimony having demonstrated that that shade is most restful to the eyes, whereas the yellow color of the natural pine is extremely trying to the optics of the flyers.

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF WEALTH.
We do not, in this, refer to the responsibilities imposed upon the wealthy to relieve the less fortunate of their fellow-citizens. That is a question between man and his Maker. What we desire to call attention to is the responsibility especially incumbent upon those who have been favored by fortune to do their fair share in bearing the burdens of taxation imposed upon the people by the city, the county, the State and the national government.

Among projects of reform that are brought to the front from time to time, frequent references are made to systems of accumulative taxation, such as have been adopted in some countries. As THE TIMES has shown on several occasions, there is no need for the adoption of such a system. All that is necessary is for every citizen to pay his fair share of taxation. That such is not done at present is all too evident.

Take the banks, for instance. A couple of weeks ago THE TIMES referred to the fact that seven of the Los Angeles banks had returned to the City Assessor statements of available cash on hand, running from nothing to $40,566. These amounts aggregated $90,674, or an average of $11,334 for each of the seven banks. Only a few days later an interview was published in THE TIMES with a prominent banking man of this city in which he expressed the opinion that it would be necessary to consolidate some of the local banks, for the reason that there was such an immense amount of capital deposited with them that they could not obtain legitimate investments, and he stated the available cash on hand in the eight clearing-house banks as $3,947,003 on April 1, just thirty days before the statement of the seven banks above referred to was made to the City Assessor.

It is true that a decision has been rendered to the effect that national banks are not compelled to pay taxes on deposits, such taxes being payable by the depositors in those banks, but this decision only refers to national banks, and of the seven banks above referred to only one—the one which reported no cash on hand—was a national bank.

This evasion of taxation is, however, by no means confined to the banks. It is a well-known fact that the owners of large unimproved tracts, in this and other States, do not pay taxes in anything like the same proportion as the owners of small improved homes. This is true, not only of California, but of every State in the Union. The village of Tarrytown, in New York State, is the place of residence of a number of millionaires who have been very successful in escaping to a great extent the burden of taxation, owing to the leniency of assessors.

Last year the assessment roll in Tarrytown aggregated about $4,500,000, but owing to severe strictures passed upon the assessor by a justice in that county the assessment roll has this year been increased to $17,782,400, or nearly four times as much. As to personal property, the assessment of that species of wealth is almost a farce. Quite recently the people of Chicago were astounded and disgusted when one of the newspapers of that city published the absurdly small amount of real estate upon which wealthy citizens of Chicago paid taxes.

This evasion of the law by wealthy men, when the assessor comes around, is a great and growing evil, which is rapidly demoralizing the community. Speaking on this subject recently, a business methods than it does for the authority of the Supreme Court." It seems to us that there is little to choose between such language as this and that of the plank of the Chicago platform, which drove a great many thousands of law-abiding Democratic citizens to vote for William McKinley last November. Whatever may be thought in regard to the wisdom or propriety of the Supreme Court's decision, it is the law of the land, and as such should be respected, until it is changed.

Just see what a difference the Wilson tariff made to the ship carpenters. Under the old McKinley law the increase of American-built vessels sold and placed under foreign flags was 140 per cent. Under the first two years of the Wilson Act it had decreased to 82 per cent. This directly affected the Pacific Coast, for a large number of the vessels sold while the McKinley tariff was in force, were built at San Francisco, Humboldt Bay and the various shipyards on Puget Sound. Many of these vessels were sold to owners residing in the Sandwich Islands, and now fly the Hawaiian flag.

The Cleveland (Ohio) News and Herald thus discourse of the marvelous growth of Los Angeles and figures out why we are prosperous. It says: "This shows what fruit and climate can do for a city which has few advantages for manufacturers or commerce, other than those industries directly founded upon the bounteous climate which nature has given as the chief endowment of the region in which Los Angeles is situated. It is evident that the pursuit of health and beauty are still powerful factors in the affairs of men, and it seems that no city need ask more than a sufficiently benign, salubrious, and fructifying climate."

To this shirking of responsibility on the part of the rich is undoubtedly due much of the dissatisfaction and discontent which we see around us. Every time a wealthy citizen avoids the payment of a tax an additional burden is thrown upon those who can least afford to bear it. Such actions breed anarchists, and make the task more difficult for those who are trying to uphold the law of the land. How can we expect the poor and needy, and wretched, to reverence the majesty of the law, when they see it defied and evaded daily by those who are well endowed with this world's goods?

Instead of trying to shirk their responsibilities, the rich should set an example to their less fortunate fellow citizens in exact and cheerful compliance with the law of the land. We have the best of authority for saying that much will be expected from those to whom much has been given. Should the rich refuse to continue to yield up a fair percentage of their holdings to the government which makes those holdings possible, they may awake some day to a realization of the fact that they have been engaged in undermining the foundation upon which their wealth is based.

Sir William J. Clarke, Bart., who fell dead of apoplexy on the street in Melbourne one day last week, was the son of a Tasmanian butcher, who went out to that country as a private soldier in 1819. Strange to say, Sir William bore a most striking resemblance to William A. Clarke, the Montana sugar millionaire, though in nowise related to him. Sir William was a benevolent man, and owed his elevation into the ranks of the nobility to the fact that he had given such enormous bequests to public charities of all sorts. Sir William had an utter detestation of people who got rich in the colonies, and then went off to England to squander it. Somebody told him one day that Sir Samuel Baker, who had left Australia for London with a big bag of money, had leased Huguenot, the country seat of Lord Beaconsfield. "Ah, let him go," said Clarke, "he may hire Disraeli's house, but he'll never acquire his manor." He named his country residence near Kyneton, "Rupertwood," after his eldest son, Rupert Clarke, and a visit to that ideal home was something that a guest could not very readily forget.

The time is rapidly drawing near when it will be too late for the United States to take action in regard to participation in the Paris Exposition. By the 25th of next month the commissioners from each country that wishes to take part in the great exposition must be appointed. So far, the United States has taken no action in this matter. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has been working for eight months in this direction, and has been trying to obtain information from Washington on the subject, but has been unable to do so, because no United States commissioners have yet been appointed. It would be a thousand pities if the United States should let this exposition, which will be the crowning enterprise of the century, go by without an adequate representation.

Col. Joseph de la Mar of Idaho offers a prize of $50,000 to any one who will discover a cheaper method of reducing the arsenical ores of California. That would be a very good investment. There are hundreds of acres of land bearing this kind of ore in Modoc, Lassen and Siskiyou counties, that could be profitably worked if an economical process can be obtained. Rock that will assay $80 to the ton and will not pay $3 per ton by mill work, can be found in the vicinity of Black Rock, in Lassen county.

A GREAT AMERICAN MUSICIAN.

A great deal has been said and written during the past year concerning the proper recognition of American musicians. The time has been when it seemed necessary for an artist either to be of foreign birth or to assume a foreign name in order to gain recognition at the hands of a certain part of America's music-loving public, and it is certainly very favorable sign when the leading musical societies of the country, as well as the great dailies, have become advocates of the merits of America's own musicians. It is to be hoped that the time is near at hand when art will stand on their merit regardless of birthplace or name.

America counts among her vocal and instrumental musicians those who are peers of the artists of any nation. We have our Clarence Eddy, Mme. Zeisler, our Sherwood and other instrumental musicians who stand among the greatest masters of this age, and the same may be said of our vocalists.

Los Angeles is particularly proud of the fact that she can lay claim to Miss Ellen Beach Yaw, who is one of the best and most favorably known of America's artists. Miss Yaw is truly American in every sense of the word, be hired to shout for Los Angeles. Mr. Carlson shouted loudly and often for San Diego while he lived there, and if any of the Bay-climate papers objected to his so doing, they managed to stifle their objections pretty thoroughly.

"The eternal fitness of things" comes to us from Bakersfield in the shape of a sidewalk "unpleasantness" in which the assaulting party was one Dr. Hasty. By the time he has had a "dozen raw" on his starboard optic to draw out the black-and-blue spots, he will wish that his actions had not been so much in accord with his name.

The Hoffman murder still continues to be the great mystery of San Francisco, quite as much as the murder of the drug clerk, Eugene Ware. Just at present the outlook for Figel, the book-keeper, is a very gloomy one. He is certain to go to the penitentiary for embezzlement, if, indeed, he is lucky enough to escape the gallows.

The school trustees of Preston and Fredonia, in Iowa, are having cellars built under the schoolhouses as a protection against tornadoes. Who wants to live in any part of America, or elsewhere on God's footstool, where such precautions are deemed necessary? Why not come out to California at once and have done with it?

That Burlington (Iowa) schoolmaster who made the boys get down on all fours and crawl up to his desk with their books in their mouths, need not feel much astonished, if he is hauled out of bed some of these nights by the "White Caps" who will carry a big horsewhip and proceed to put the lash where it will do the most good.

Richard Croker is not deserving of as much sympathy as one might at first suppose. In the first place, no man that would eat a railway sandwich has any business at the head of an institution like Tammany. Still, for a bad cigar making him sick, that's nonsense. No man who lived in the "Bloody Sixth" Ward as long as he did will ever be made sick by any sort of cigar.

Mr. Bryan has requested that the platform he will speak from in Fresno be small, near the ground and strong. Had the gentleman from Nebraska had one something like that to run on last year he might have succeeded in scraping up a few more votes. Mr. Bryan and his doctrine were bad enough, but the platform of his party was a thousand times worse.

Thirty-one years ago the large pell-mell was sunk in Lake Michigan with a cargo of copper on board, their value at $150,000. The hull was discovered, a few days ago, by a diver, and the working of taking out the copper will soon begin. At the present market price the copper is worth only $50,000. Many lives were lost in that wreck.

The Irish Textile Journal of the 15th ult., gives the exports of linen from that country to the United States as 17,583,300 yards for the month of April, 1897, as against 6,737,350 yards for the corresponding month of 1896. This shows how anxious European manufacturers are to get their goods into American ports before the new tariff goes into effect.

One of the famous women of the civil war was an elderly lady named Bickerdyke. She lives to see next Saturday, the 19th inst., she will be 80 years old, and a great many of the G.A.R. posts throughout the United States propose to celebrate that day in honor of the grand old woman who gave her humble efforts to divert war of its horrors.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

A factory is to be established at North Ontario for the manufacture of citric acid from such lemons as may be unmarketable and rated as "culls." This is a step in the right direction, and will result in only the very best lemons being boxed up for market.

Rich discoveries of auriferous quartz are reported at Eagle Rock, in Riverside county, Southern California is not half prospected as yet, and there are a great many people going to Alaska to dig gold who would get quite as much money nearer home, and with a good deal less hardship.

The San Antonio Water Company of Ontario recently sold a large block of its bonds, bearing 6 per cent. interest, to an Illinois capitalist, and another block of them was sold to parties in Pasadena. Six per cent. looks like big interest to eastern investors, where the security is really good.

The fire department of Porterville, Tulare county, got up a great fiesta of their own last Wednesday. Porterville never does anything by halves. In the winter of '92 she got up the greatest pigeon shoot ever held on the Coast. Their prizes were not as rich as those at Monte Carlo, but the pigeons were wild blue rocks, as strong as eagles; strong birds make a great pigeon shoot.

The Anahelm Independent says the flies are so bad about Artesia that dairymen have to sew burlap about their cows to keep the pests off. Some cows that have not been sacked are masses of sores from being bitten by the flies. Next winter, when the raindrops begin to fall, these same dairymen will be hiring roofers to shingle the cows over, so the rain won't get into the milk.

The hot weather is getting in its work. In spite of the competition of two steam railroads and one electric line, as well as an alleged bicycle path, there was such a rush of people to Santa Monica yesterday that a large share of the passengers couldn't sit down, but had to hang to straps, or airy balance themselves on their tiptoes while the coaches swung around curves.

The sheep-raisers around Los Angeles are feeling better now, thank you. The weather conditions during the past winter have been such that the supply of feed is excellent. The sheep men in another week will be turning their flocks into the stubble fields, and the hay crop is so good that in the mown fields there will be good picking for the sheep. Wool prices this summer are more than double what they were a year ago.

A recent regulation by the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific has roused a spirit of rebellion among the agents in Pasadena and trouble is threatened. The board seeks to limit the commissions they may receive from outside companies and the agents are getting hot over what they consider an unwarranted interference. They threaten retaliation. The board appears to be taking an "undesirable risk." In this particular line of business policy might be expected to play some part.

While a Lompoc man was prospecting for oil the other day, he struck a rich spring of curiously-flavored mineral water. He didn't like it any too well himself, but his mugs drank largely of it and lived, while other people's mugs all around him were dying of an epidemic disease peculiar to that neighborhood. That man has just as big a thing as if he had "struck it." If the waters of his spring will cure or prevent (which is better) the disease known as "hot cholera," sell 10,000 barrels of it in Indiana and Illinois every year and have no danger of breaking the market.

LARK ELLEN.

WILL Sing Tonight for the Benefit of the Newboys.

This evening, at the Los Angeles Theater, Miss Ellen Yaw will give her long and enthusiastically-anticipated concert for the Newboys' Home, and a huge audience will have the double pleasure of listening to an exceptionally fine programme, and enjoying the knowledge that it has assisted a most worthy institution. Miss Yaw will sing several of her most brilliant solos, and the local artists who will support her have selected a thoroughly enjoyable programme.

The concert will be given under the auspices of The Times, and The Times is responsible for the expenses and for the proper disposition of the proceeds, which will be turned over to the dinner at the hotel, and the home. The home as it stands has paid for and is not in debt. The contemplated purpose for which the fund is to be used is the purchase of ground for an addition to the home, and the erection thereof of a wing for a gymnasium and recreation room, which will be added to the board of directors—and the suggestion is likely to meet with favorable consideration—that in recognition of the kindness of Miss Yaw, the name of the home be changed to "Lark-ellen Lodge for Newboys," a singularly appropriate, as well as euphonious name.

Senators and Stocks.

[W. C. Curtis in Chicago Record.] There are seven or eight Senators who habitually indulge in stocks. There were more in the last Senate than in this, but three of them are very heavy traders. Mr. Bruce and Mr. Cameron always have a large margin on deposit at their brokers, and place orders nearly every day. Senator Smith of New Jersey is also a regular trader. Mr. Elkins deals in Missouri, Jones of Nevada, Murphy of New York, Seward of Pennsylvania, Sewell of New Jersey, Wetmore of Rhode Island, Wollcott of Colorado and several others take a shy at the market now and then; but can find that any of these gentlemen took advantage of the action of the Finance Committee regarding the schedule.

TURNED DOWN.

POKER DAVIS AND HIS GANG INVADE SAN PEDRO.

They Buy a License to do the Best They Can, but a Constable Refuses to Recognize it and Closes Up All the Games.

Poker Davis and his corps of able assistants invaded San Pedro yesterday, but their policy of "doing the best they can" did not net them much of a rake-off. In fact, owing to the uncompromising attitude adopted by the constable, the day was a very poor one for the sure-things and percentage games men, who played what they would term "a losing game."

Saturday night, Davis, in company with William Jackson and several others, reached San Pedro and began "framing up" for a grand coup. They hunted up John Buster, a local man of considerable talent in gaming, and were introduced by him to the local officials, with the evident intention of doing business with them. Jackson was introduced to City Marshal Harry Grimshaw, who, being properly impressed by the idea, issued to him a gaming license, for which the stub of the license book shows Jackson paid $3, the customary fee for one month. Armed with this license, the men had a stand erected near the pavilion, and yesterday morning were in position in a high wheel game. Close beside this, a spindle wheel, supposedly of the "square" variety, was stationed. On the opposite corner of the street, O'Brien, well known in Los Angeles, where the police have persistently stopped his operations, took up his stand with his bird and envelope.

As soon as the visitors began to arrive, the cappers began work, while Davis looked complacently on, rubbing his hands, in anticipation of the result. A dice game was started in Julius Blatt's saloon, and everything ready for a big game, feasts, etc. Constable P. H. Schwartz happened along. With his deputies, he demanded that all games cease, and was met with the usual bluff. Jackson proudly waved the license at him, while Davis suavely explained that Schwartz had no authority to touch the license. It is generally ascertained that Justice of the Peace Downing would entertain complaints against the gamblers, if made, and then "stood pat." Neither arguments nor threats affected him, and with the remark that he would "see the proposition through," he started in to arrest the leaders. He entered in time, however, and quietly and sadly did they fold up their apparatus and leave. The spindle and whip wheel were cases up and the dice box and dice stored away in a cigar box. O'Brien shifted his bird to his hat, and nothing but the bare stand, erected in the morning at a cost of about $6.50, remained to show of the visit by the grafters.

A general summing up of the day's work shows the gamblers to be out of pocket, as only one sucker went against any of the games before they were stopped. This was a local man, but, as nothing but the bare stand, erected in the morning at a cost of about $6.50, remained to show of the visit by the grafters.

City Marshal Grimshaw, when asked relative to the license issued, explained the matter as follows: "Jackson and Buster came to me Saturday night and asked for a license for a white wheel game. I didn't know what kind of a game it was, but as it wasn't in the list of games prohibited by the statutes, I granted it. I didn't ask them any questions and didn't know that it was a percentage game. But I demand that it is."

After yesterday's experience, Davis and his assistants will probably place their name upon the black-list, for as one member remarked, "These guys are dead wise. They're next to the graft, and won't stand for the bull, either."

BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

Preached by Dr. Fowler to Occidental College Graduates.

The Y.M.C.A. Hall was decorated Sunday morning in blue and silver, the class colors of the graduating class of Occidental College, and Rev. Dr. Fowler of the Central Presbyterian Church, by invitation, preached the baccalaureate sermon. After prayer by President Parkhill, he took for his text Daniel 1, 17, "As for these four young men, God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom." After describing the royal college at Babylon, the speaker pictured the four students, Dan, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, as freshmen in the class of 1897 B.C., four young men of great decision for the right, and earnest and faithful in their studies.

"Young friends," he said, "it would be the victory of your whole life if you can attain to this same dignity."

These are the days for gaining skill and power in welding the weapons for life's battle. Many wonder why so many college graduates are never heard from after commencement. The truth is they were shinning and shuffling all through college, and they make as little progress in the world as any of us.

These Hebrew youths way back in royal university laid the foundation of their future, and conquering here they conquered ever after. So will come your success—not stumbled into, but wrought out in these days, and in your estimation work. Lastly, these four Hebrew students set chief store by the Book of Books. They were loyal to the Bible of their fathers. And so you greatly mistake today, if you think a young man is weak to lay hold upon the Word of God. One of the best things to be sold of Occidental College, is that as a Bible-teaching college it places this book in the regular curriculum."

Missionaries and Children.

At Bethlehem Institutional Church the Misses Grace and Gertrude Wyckoff, who have lately returned from Ping Chuan, China, spoke at the Sunday-school and church service on the mission work in China. They briefly outlined the work done in stopping the cruel practice of binding the feet, and gave a graphic description of the home life of the American in China.

In the evening services appropriate to children's days were held, including recitations and songs, a feature of the evening was a song, "Happy Little Pilgrims," by a little girl, who sang in a clear, melodious voice. The children's choir furnished the music throughout the day and occasioned much favorable comment on the work.

Services were added to the church at the twilight communion and eight joined the Christian Endeavor Society. At the Macy-street Tabernacle a joint mission of Bethlehem, the attendance yesterday was seventy-four.

SURPLUS OIL TANKAGE.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM RESPECTING STORAGE AND MARKETS.

Southern California Railway Company Will Purchase More Oil. Only Nominal Surplus Above Ground—Those Consuming-Purchasers—Review of the Field.

The local oil-producers are giving some attention to an investigation of the conditions that exist in the Los Angeles field with respect to markets and future developments. They are seeking information of every nature having a bearing upon their industry. Facts are apparent which should serve to remove all present fears of over-production and a consequent slump in the market. The most constant inquiry from producers and consumers alike is, "What is oil worth?" Is the market demoralizing, and is it true that movement is on foot to depress the market to 75 cents or $0 cents a barrel? Is the tankage gobbled up, and does it stand in this direction, partly on account of a tankage combine? and secondarily from large surplus being stored above ground? Does the output greatly exceed the consumption? Have consumers recently begun to produce their own fuel?

The questions enumerated are all pertinent, and can be answered generally with a big "No." Yet a specific answer to each interrogation will interest the general public and surprise many people whose interests lie close to Los Angeles' big industry.

As regards the market, no decline in price has been experienced since last June from $1 to $2 a barrel, far more sales having been made at the latter than the former price, the volume of business having centered closely about $1.15. It is true that the market has been quiet during the past ten days, owing to the placing of a drilling permit in the hands of the Southern California Railway Company as a purchaser in the district. The company has not an "enormous" surplus on hand, as idly talked about the field, and will soon, it is thought, be in the market again as a purchaser, holding it is said, succeeded in closing a deal with the oil companies.

Gleason, Edwards & Co. are putting in a rig at well No. 2, near the brickyard. The new well will be finished at depth of 650 feet, and will be a good producer. The oil is of superior gravity, comparing favorably with the best yet produced in the local field. The company has planned for the development of four wells at this site.

from this city of over $100,000 annually for coal, to say nothing of the loss of the other $650,000 that finds its way into industrial channels through receipts from Los Angeles' exports of fuel and lubricating oils.

Since last September oil territory from 400 to 500 feet, and 3500 feet in length has been added to the local field. During the coming year, there is another such body of oil sand to come from? This is the question that oil men are asking each other, and large sums of money are being expended in an attempt to find the answer. It has demonstrated that such new territory will be necessary to meet present fixed demands. Fullerton may be said to be in the hands of a single incorporation, yet were it held by numerous individuals the outlook is none too bright. The oil man's motto is "never give up," and broken that the drilling of each succeeding well is more like exploiting for oil than the development of an established field.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of all interests to harmonize and put the industry to a slight period of development. Such cooperation may lead to exploitation that will give to this county such production that the oil industry of the present time will have been found to have hardly passed the incipient stage. Oil development will be the chief point of interest during the next ninety days. Several drills are still at work in new territory outside the city.

AT THE EAST END.

Oil development in the eastern extension is still being prosecuted with vigor. There are now thirty-six oil derricks in that portion of the field, and the number will be broken in a large number of additional wells. The Capitol Milling Company promises to soon become one of the heaviest producers of the east end. It already possesses two producing wells here, and the drill is in rich oil sand in a thick bed. The company has secured about four acres of well-timed leases, and is having the tract included with a substantial board fence. Report says a large number of wells will be drilled upon the property.

Pure Blood

Every thought, word and action takes vitality from the blood; every nerve, muscle, bone, organ and tissue depends on the blood for its quality and condition.

Spring Medicine Therefore pure blood is absolutely necessary to right living and healthy bodies. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier and the best Spring Medicine. Therefore it is the great cure for scrofula, salt rheum, humors, sores, rheumatism, catarrh, etc.; the great nerve, strength builder, appetizer, stomach tonic and regulator.

Scott & Loftus' latest well, near the southeast corner of First street and Union avenue will be tubed the first of this week.

The drilling operations are being prosecuted with vigor at the Off and Green sites, in the rear of the cottages on Union avenue, south of First street. These wells are to be closed together; one drill hole would seem to be ample for the two wells.

It would not require an expert driller to cross stems before oil sand is broken in this locality. In fact, many "crooked" holes have been drilled in the old field that would be necessary to accomplish this feat at the site mentioned.

Satisfactory progress is being made at the new Parker well at the northwest corner of North Figueroa and Court streets. Drilling operations will soon begin at a new Rummel Oil Company site near by within a few days.

The drilling and pumping machinery have been removed from the new Turner well, on Ocean View avenue. The well developed to a point, was temporarily abandoned. The drilling machinery was hauled to new territory, northwest of the County Hospital.

Drilling operations are in progress at the new Nelson site in the Trafton residence. Young & Shaw are pushing development at their new site, west of Bonnie Brae street.

PASADENA.

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS ARE IN REBELLION.

They Resent a Restriction by the Board of Fire Underwriters. More Water Development is Needed—The Yaw Concert—Children's Service.

PASADENA, June 13.—[Regular Correspondence.] Local fire insurance agents are much exercised over a regulation recently imposed by the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific. This regulation requires that no agent shall accept from any insurance company, whether such company is a member of the board or not, a commission exceeding 15 per cent. on the net premiums. A blank form accepting this rule and agreeing to heavy penalties in case of its violation, was sent to every agent for signature. Agents in Pasadena are in doubt concerning this is an unjustifiable demand.

The following-named have been elected as trustees of the local W.C.T.U.: W. I. Hull, Rev. S. D. Bell, Mmes. Hughes, Austin, Gray and Merritt.

Hon. Walter Van Dyke and family have taken cottage here for the season.

Mrs. John Gaetz and family have gone on a ten days' visit to friends in Ventura.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lynch, Los Angeles; Mr. H. E. Blandy and Miss Blandy; Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. Flounoy; Albuquerque; Mrs. S. Bissinger and family, San Francisco; Mrs. Lee Huntington, Chicago, and F. M. Frye, Los Angeles, are guests at the Arcadia.

Hiram Montgomery left on the steamer San Mateo on Friday for a two weeks' visit in British Columbia. Dr. Munhall and Prof. Birch will begin holding revival services here Friday evening, June 18.

Invitations are out for the fourth annual commencement of Santa Monica High School, June 19.

Judge and Mrs. C. H. Ivins on Saturday received news that a daughter who has been seriously ill in El Paso, Tex., is greatly improved, and on the road to recovery.

WATER SUPPLY.

The necessity of greater water development is being demonstrated by the frequent inadequacy of the present supply. It was expected that the extensive forest fires that occurred last fall would result in some scarcity this season. This expectation is apparently being realized. Despite the copious rains this spring there is evidence that the supply is less than usual. The pressure is often so light that the work of filling the sprinkling wagons is tediously slow.

Those who have investigated the subject declare that it would be easy to largely increase the supply. The possibilities of water development in the vicinity of Pasadena are said to be practically unlimited.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE.

The children's service at the Presbyterian Church this morning was largely attended. Brief addresses were made by Prof. Birch, Dr. George S. Hull and Rev. N. H. G. Fife. The music included a duet especially rendered by Miss Scudder and Mr. Klamroth.

SACRED CONCERT.

The sacred concert this afternoon at the Universalist Church was one of the best that has been given. As usual it was well attended. The feature of the occasion was the excellent organ playing of Prof. J. C. Dunster, who is one of the fine organists in Southern California.

The dust at Miss Jones and Mr. Lucas was exceptionally good, and Mr. Kendall's baritone solo was finely rendered. The complete programme was as follows:

"Arioso," "Prayer," "Canticle March" (Dunster); Prof. J. C. Dunster. Invocation and response.

Quartette, "We Stand in Deep Reverence" (Mendelsohn-Shelley); Miss Jones, Mrs. Kendall, Messrs. Lucas and Paul.

Organ, "Two Andantes" (Batiote); Duet, "Tarry With Me" (Nicolia); Miss Jones and Mr. Lucas.

Offertory, Offertoire, C minor (Baptiste); Etude solo, "Salve Regina" (Buck); Mr. Kendall.

Remarks by Pastor—Mr. Jones, Organ, "Barcarolle" (Bennett)—Prof. J. C. Dunster.

"I Will Call Upon Thee" (Quattuck); Miss Jones, Mrs. Kendall, Messrs. Lucas and Kendall.

Organ, "Semiramide" (Rossini)—Prof. J. C. Dunster.

The concert to be given tomorrow (Sunday) evening at the Los Angeles Theatre for the benefit of the Boys' Home promises to be well attended by Pasadena people. The great feature of the concert will be the singing of Miss Ellen Beach Yaw, whose wonderful soprano has placed her among the great singers of the world. The programme will also include other attractions for lovers of good music. Prominent among them will be the Madrigal Quartette of this city, whose singing has elicited the highest praise wherever it has been heard. The quartette consists of Miss Alice Eaton, Miss Katherine H. Scudder, Miss Elizabeth D. Jones and Miss Grace Longley.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained at the Times office, No. 87 East Colorado street.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Mrs. S. Reid, Miss Reid and Arthur Reid, who have been occupying Seymour Locke's house on Grand avenue, will leave tomorrow (Monday) morning for San Francisco, where they will spend a day and then go on to their home in Lake Forest, Ill.

Newton S. Leithard returned today from his trip to the Yosemite. Mr. Blackwell and his son, the other members of the party, remained at Bakersfield, but will arrive in about a week.

Col. C. W. Smith is expected to arrive within two or three days, to take charge of the electric road.

The City Council will hold its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon.

SANTA MONICA.

A man shoots himself at Santa Ynez Canyon.

SANTA MONICA, June 13.—[Regular Correspondence.] This morning the dead body of an unknown suicide was found near Santa Ynez Cañon. The discovery of the corpse was reported to Superintendent Jamison of the long wharf by a man who is employed by the Southern Pacific Company at the water tanks. Deputy Sheriff Meyers of Santa Monica was notified, and he in turn telephoned to Coroner Campbell and Deputy Coroner Summerfield, who came here on the next electric car. The body was found to be that of a middle-aged man, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, weighing about 150 pounds, with red hair and mustache. He was dressed in a well-made light plaid suit of clothes, a black hat, size No. 7, a drab sateen shirt, with a gold button, and with shoes badly worn at the heel.

He had evidently shot himself, as there were wounds near his right temple and near his heart, and his revolver was on the ground by his side. The revolver, which was a bulldog of 32-caliber, was evidently held firmly against his side, so that the first bullet was burned in the earth, driving down to the surface of the body. The coroner brought the remains to Santa Monica. The jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from pistol shot inflicted by himself with suicidal intent. The man was found to be about the body by which it could be identified, except a silver watch with a gold chain attached, which is now in the possession of the coroner. Undertaker A. M. Guldberg took charge of the body, and buried it in the "potter's field" at Santa Monica Cemetery.

The flow of the Rio Grande is 910 cubic feet per second, against 1100 cubic feet a year ago. If this flow was kept up there might be something in Mexico's fool claim that the river is navigable. The channel has changed half a mile.

A cave of dimensions supposed to rival the Mammoth Cave, has been reported from the Ojitos. It has long been utilized for housing sheep, and as many as 3000 head have found shelter there.

New Mexico has a law whereby a company is not liable for damages when an injury to a passenger occurs in the course of transportation. This law is already being used to the advantage of the railroads.

A PRAIRIE FIRE.
Destruction of the Yield of Thirty Acres of Hay.

A stretch of blackened fields with a heap of smouldering straw in its midst three miles southeast of Evergreen Cemetery, marks the spot where a dangerous prairie fire started yesterday to be quenched after it had done considerable damage, but in the nick of time to prevent it from sweeping off across the country with disastrous effect.

Will Watson rents a tract of land on the Hellman Rancho southeast of Boyle Heights. His farm is planted to barley. All last week he and his farmhands were at work mowing barley, drying it, gathering it together and baling it. Between thirty and forty acres had been mowed, and all the hay baled and piled into a mound which contained at least forty-five tons.

High up on the crest of the hills are the adobe buildings of the Mexican sheep ranch. The Basque herders at noon yesterday looked down into the valley, and saw that Watson's baled hay was on fire, and that flames were creeping across the stubblefield. They gave the alarm. From every direction the farmers hurried to the rescue and fought desperately against the fire. They stopped its further spread, but all the pile of baled hay was ablaze, and it was impossible to save any of it.

The loss is about $300. Watson was not at home, and did not learn of the fire until many hours after it was over.

Around the bales and the mound of ashes the hay had been cut very short. Not far distant was a stretch of tall stubble, over which the header had passed, and in another direction a wheat field. The fire moved to within a few feet of both these dangerous points, and had not the farmers come when they did, there would have been an exceedingly disastrous conflagration, which would have spread far in every direction and have destroyed hay fields, meadows, hay, agricultural machinery and ranch buildings. The flames had been almost impossible to stop until the wind changed. One favorable circumstance was that the wind was light and variable, and not blowing in the steady sweep which is so dangerous when a prairie fire has started.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.A Telegram from the Cause of Probable Fatal Injury.

Humphrey Holland, 10 years of age, lies at the point of death as the result of a telegram received yesterday by his mother, apprising her of the death of her father at Sacramento. Mrs. Holland, with Humphrey, started for the telegraph office yesterday afternoon to answer the telegram. At the junction of Fourth and Spring streets, Humphrey was struck by a team of horses, sustaining seven internal injuries and a probable fracture of the skull. After being treated by Dr. Hagan, the boy was removed to his home, No. 447 South Los Angeles street, where at a late hour last night it was feared that he could not live until morning. The name of the owner of the horse could not be ascertained by the police.

Christian Alliance Convention.

Yesterday the Alliance encampment was crowded all day. The 9 o'clock prayer-meeting was very largely attended, and Mrs. Scudder of Santa Barbara spoke at 10 o'clock to a large audience. Stephen Merritt spoke at 11 o'clock. Then the gathered here the campers, who during the noon recess filled more than half of the tent. At 2 o'clock Mr. Waddell led a missionary meeting, while Mr. Merritt visited the Florence Home and gave the girls a talk. At 3 o'clock he spoke again in the tent, and Dr. Young led the afternoon meeting to a conclusion in a service of prayer. In the evening the great tent was again packed and encircled with a multitude to hear Mr. Merritt's last message, as he left by the northbound train last night. Today the convention continues with the following speakers: At 9 o'clock Mr. Fraser; 10 o'clock, Mr. Waddell; 11 o'clock, Mrs. Scudder; 2 o'clock, testimony meeting in the big tent and inquiry meeting led by Mr. Waddell in the smaller tent; 4 o'clock, Mr. Graves.

The End's Coming:

At 4 o'clock, Mr. Ferguson of Riverside; and in the evening Mr. Fraser and Mr. Wilkerson will preach. The same hours will be observed tomorrow, the last day of the convention.

FRENCH CRITICISM.American Women Seemingly Dress in Uniform.

A Frenchman who recently paid a visit to the United States was captivated by the charms of the women of this country, and declared them to be more handsome as a type, than his own countrywomen. He was disgusted, however, with their toilets. Said he: "Any considerable number of American women together look as if they had come out of an orphan asylum for girls, and the number of them dressed alike with a few variations in the dress, make their costumes more like a type, than his own countrywomen. He was disgusted, however, with their toilets."

But there is no assurance that the trust will continue to buy beets at all. For the purpose of getting some local sugar in this campaign to assist the Hawaiian sugar trade, we compelled the planters to surrender to it the hired agents of the trust have held out vague promises to the citizens of the interior of factories to be built and a great industry to be established if only Hawaiian sugar could be shipped. But it is self-evident that the trust will not put up factories to manufacture raw sugar unless these can make that sugar cheaper than it can lay down its imports into this country. It will not even let the present factories in operation unless the can put out sugar at the product below the cost of importing raw sugar. It will have to reduce in closing them up as it closed up the American Sugar Refinery in this city, and a dozen places in the East six or seven years ago, if it sees a chance to make a dollar more than the trust.

The way to build up the beet-sugar industry is to smash the trust. California cannot do it alone, but she can strike a blow at the great corporation if the people rouse themselves to the work.

Probably Heart Failure.

F. M. McBlair, a peddler, was found dead in bed at No. 107 Sotello street at 10 o'clock last night. Heart failure is supposed to have been the cause of death. Deceased had for some time complained of ill health, and on Saturday night told a friend he had been cut on a toe, and was unable to get rid of the pain. On Sunday he had a fit of convulsive spasms at Fiesta Hotel. He retired shortly after midnight and as he did not arise at the usual hour today his friend went to his room and found him dead. The body was taken to Kregel & Bressee's morgue. An inquest will be held today.

Not Dead but Demented.

Mark Boren, who was reported to have been killed near Mendota Sunday night last by falling from a train, was found Saturday five miles from Mojave, wandering about in a demented condition. His arm was fractured and his face badly cut. Boren is from Spokane, Wash., and has relatives in Wallace, Idaho, and Rossland, B. C.

TWO MEN DROWNED.But the Young Woman in the Party Was Rescued.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK. June 13.—Two men were drowned from a catboat in the Hudson off Fort Lee this afternoon. The party on the yacht were Miss Emma Guilmette, her brother, H. E. Guilmette, a clerk in the office of Moore & Schley, and W. Morton Smith, employed on the Mall and Express. Their boat was upset by a squall.

The launch Lorraine was soon distance away, and before she reached the boat the two men had disappeared. Miss Guilmette was still floating, and was dragged on board the launch, where she revived.

THE SULTAN'S APPEALS.Asks Emperor Nicholas and William to Support Him.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) LONDON, June 14.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Times' correspondent at Constantinople says: "The Sultan has appealed to Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William to support his claim to annex Thessaly to the Ottoman empire. This proceeding highly displeases the ambassadors of the other powers, who are expected to mark their displeasure by refusing to negotiate the other points in Turkey's demand until the evacuation demand is settled."
